

Senators Discuss Party Problems

Legislators Plan for Early Appointment and Victory in Campaigns—With Governor Smith—Full Discussion on Bills Now Pending Before Legislature.

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 14 (AP).—Delegates to present a united front on the remainder of the legislative session, members of the Republican majority in the senate have arranged their program with the consideration of bringing the session to an end by the middle of March and of securing victory for their party in future controversies with Governor Smith or the Democratic majority in the legislature.

Spurred on in their action by a surprise visit from Chairman George J. Morris of the Republican state committee, the Republican senators met in conference at the close of last night's session of the upper house, and for two and one-half hours thrashed out and discussed many of the pressing problems of the session. It was anticipated that their party colleagues in the Assembly would do likewise within a few days.

Although a wide field of legislation was talked over, the only definite decision of the senators was to press for passage of the reorganization bills which will finally consolidate the state architect's office with the Department of Public Works and also place within the jurisdiction of that department the functions of the former Fine Arts Commission. Both measures have the approval of Governor Smith and were in line with the recommendations of the Hughes reorganization committee of two years ago, although they have caused a bitter controversy between architects and fine arts organizations, and resulted in several resignations from the architect's office last week.

Results of Discussion Gratifying.

The majority of the reorganization bills introduced at the present session were discussed at the conference, but without final action. The whole affair, according to Senator Leader John Knight, was aimed at a thorough discussion of these and other measures, and he felt that the results were most gratifying. Considerable time was spent in discussion of bills dealing with allocation of park funds in a general way, although no specific allocations were decided upon.

It was decided, however, to push the Hewitt Bill proposing creation of a joint legislative and civil committee for a thorough survey and study of the reformation needs of the state, as against the resolution which would authorize a constitutional amendment calling for a definite reformation program.

Political Committee Question.

Heated discussion took place during consideration of legislation introduced to provide for the definite designation of men and women members of the state committees of any party as against the present designation of committee-men. It was announced that no decision was reached in the matter, and that it would be taken up again later.

While last night's conference was held on what is designated as the regular senate "conference night," it was regarded at the Capitol as particularly significant in view of Mr. Morris's visit and the length of the meeting, which ended after midnight. The general opinion among Democratic legislators was that the Republicans, who have a majority of only one in the senate, had decided to ensure the loyalty of every member of their group in the upper house on all legislation so as to be certain of passage of all legislation desired by the party. Victory of nearly every bill desired by the Republicans in the assembly is practically assured because of the much larger majority.

Propose Elting For Governor

Philip Elting's Name Expected to Be Presented by Assemblyman Millard Davis at Lincoln Day Dinner at Albany—Noted Speakers at Dinner.

The annual Lincoln Day dinner of the Albany county Republican organization will be held tonight at the Ten Eyck Hotel, Albany, and according to Albany despatches it is expected that Assemblyman Millard Davis of Kenyon, who is to be one of the speakers, will present the name of County Chairman Philip Elting of this city, collector of the Port of New York, for the Republican nomination for governor. The New York Sun of Monday evening says Mr. Davis considers Mr. Elting, long a Republican of statewide influence, as the man best equipped for the position of governor.

Republican leaders throughout the state have been invited to attend the dinner and it is expected they will hold a conference on various matters affecting party policy in connection with pending legislation. Among the legislative leaders who will be present will be Speaker Joseph A. McGinnies, of the Assembly, and John Knight and Russell Dunmore, majority leaders of the Senate and Assembly respectively.

At the conference of leaders it is expected that candidates to be named on the state ticket for next fall's election will be discussed. Among those mentioned are Senator George R. Fearon of Syracuse, for attorney general, and Judge Harold J. Elyman of Albany, now sitting on the Third judicial department appellate division bench, to succeed Judge William S. Andrews of Syracuse, who is about to retire from the court of appeals bench under the age limit. The name of Attorney General Albert Ottinger as a candidate for governor will also be presented to the conference. It is stated.

The speakers at the Lincoln Day dinner besides Assemblyman Davis include National Committeeman Charles D. Hilles, Congressman S. Wallace Dempsey of Niagara Falls, Mrs. Charles H. Sabin and Miss Sarah Schuyler Butler of New York City. About seven hundred guests are expected at the dinner.

Discusses Party Policies at Dinner

Republican party policies will be brought to the fore again tonight when Mr. Morris, together with national committeeman Charles D. Hilles and several other prominent leaders speak at the 20th annual Lincoln Day dinner of the Albany County Republican organization. By virtue of these speakers, the affair looked upon generally as a sequel to the dinner in May of 1932, when the conference of Republican county chairmen at Schenectady last month, at which Mr. Hilles and Mr. Morris outlined party policies.

Dog Catchers Capture 5 Dogs

There Are Now Six Unmuzzled Dogs Impounded at Forsyth Park—Campaign Against Unmuzzled Dogs to Continue—Police Have Killed 15 Dogs.

As a result of the activities of the two official dog catchers of the city on Monday, five unmuzzled dogs were captured roaming the streets and are now in the pound at Forsyth park. Saturday the dog catchers caught one dog, making a total of six dogs caught as the result of a day and a half of work.

Since the rabid dog was killed by the police over a week ago the public department has killed fifteen dogs. Monday Officer Harnes killed two. One was on East Chester street and was shot by the officer. This dog has been quietly biting itself and running around the neighborhood. As far as known the animal had not bitten any one.

Later in the afternoon the police received a telephone call from Helvete street and Officer Harnes responded. He found that a dog was crouched on the running board of a parked automobile and refused to move. The animal was caught and placed in the police car and taken to police headquarters where it was placed in the gasocutor.

No Obstacles in Flying in Tropics

Colonel Lindbergh Also Declares Aviation on Commercial Basis Is Practicable and Feasible Between U. S. and South and Central American Countries.

St. Louis, Feb. 14 (AP).—Aviation on a commercial basis is practicable and feasible between the United States and South and Central American countries, said Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh on his return here from a good will tour of the southern countries.

He emphatically refused to say what effect his flight might have on the development of aviation and the promotion of friendly relations between the United States and the southern republics.

"I would rather say nothing else more qualified than I would discuss these things," he added.

He said he saw no obstacles in flying in the tropics that were any worse than those encountered in the United States.

He spoke highly of the behavior of his plane, saying:

"I think it is in almost perfect condition, although it will be overhauled here. Of course it is not in as good condition as when I first left with it."

"I did not carry a parachute on the flight," he replied to another question. "Parachutes are necessary in military maneuvers but not in passenger transportation, and also they are of no use on the type of plane I'm flying."

"The Spirit of St. Louis" is so constructed that it is possible to land without injury to the pilot or passenger in case of necessity. I believe a parachute should be carried where it is advisable and makes for greater safety. But when the tank is in front of the pilot he is in little danger of a forced landing."

"But what would have been the outcome," he was asked, "if you had been forced to land while over the water?"

"I guess the outcome would have been that I would be dead," he said and laughed merrily.

Turning to his proposed trip over the old air mail route which he abandoned one year ago yesterday to go to San Diego where the "Spirit of St. Louis" was being built, Lindbergh said:

"My primary object in going over the old air mail route is to stimulate aviation and interest in it—although I do want to go over the old route. But I think the air mail will become more and more important, especially as the ground organization is developed. I expect to see all important mail sent by air in the future."

Lindbergh Home After Hard Trip

Unfailing Accuracy Carries Lone Eagle Across Fog-blanketed Continent—Arrives Late After Confronting Bad Weather.

St. Louis, Feb. 14 (AP).—His unfailing accuracy having carried him safely half way across the fog-blanketed continent, Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh and his famous monoplane "Spirit of St. Louis" were home today.

Negotiating a planned course from Havana, Cuba, to Florida, and thence northwest to the Mississippi river, Lindbergh swooped out of the fog at Lambert-St. Louis field late yesterday and ended his journey of 1,266 miles in 15 hours and 23 minutes.

With characteristic modesty Lindbergh said the non-stop leg of the flight through the fog was like any other flight and that he was not just at any time.

"My longest jump over the water was between Havana and Key West, about 100 miles," he related. "I skirted the west coast of Florida, north and flew directly toward St. Louis. It was from then on that I had to detour, though I encountered fog from the time I hit the mainland."

"I was only occasionally out of sight of the ground on the trip yesterday. The ground ceiling was too low to circle over St. Louis as I had planned and so I headed directly for the field. The mouth of the Mississippi river was a landmark for me."

Walter Carver Accidentally Shot Himself

Well-known Taxi Driver started to Unload Revolver at Home on Andrew Street When Weapon Was Discharged—Condition Critical at Benedictine Hospital.

Walter Carver, the well-known taxi driver of No. 140 Andrew street, died in a critical condition at the Benedictine Hospital as the result of a revolver wound through his body. Dr. F. E. O'Connor responded to a telephone call to the house about 7 o'clock this morning and when he found Carver's condition so critical, he had him removed to the Benedictine Hospital in the city ambulance.

From the story of the shooting as ascertained by Sergeant Charles Phinney, who interviewed Carver at his bedside, Carver when he came home about 7 o'clock this morning started to unload his .32 caliber revolver before putting it away. While doing so the weapon suddenly discharged.

The bullet entered Carver's right side and passed completely through the body, just missing the heart, but puncturing the lungs.

Carver told Sergeant Phinney that he had decided to unload the revolver as he did not desire to have a loaded weapon around the house on account of his four year old son.

Carver's wife and son were at his bedside at the hospital and they corroborated Carver's story of how it happened.

The wounded man is widely known in Kingston. At the Benedictine Hospital this afternoon it was stated that his condition was very critical.

Killed Himself in Bed With Shotgun

Former Catskill Resident Agreed to Work for Board at West Saugerties—Kills Himself One Week Later.

Lyman Lewis, 78 years old, a former resident of Catskill, committed suicide Sunday at the home of John Leedecke at West Saugerties. Mr. Lewis had come to the Leedecke home on February 5 to make his home and work for his board. He was a retired quarryman and is survived by two sons. One, Milo C. Lewis, is employed at the Catskill post office and the other son, who is away from home, has not been located.

Mr. Lewis retired Saturday night, and Sunday morning about 10 o'clock Mrs. Leedecke went to Lewis's room and asked him if he did not desire breakfast. At that time he told her he was tired and would remain in bed for a time. Later in the afternoon, she went to his room for the purpose of calling him and received no response to her summons. The room was entered and Mr. Lewis was found lying on his bed, dead, with a gunshot wound to his body. Dean & Dean of Catskill were summoned and Coroner W. N. Conner was notified late Sunday night. Mr. Conner, after learning the circumstances, gave permission for Dean & Dean to take the body to their undertaking parlors at Catskill and on Monday morning he made an investigation in company with Deputy Sheriff Ralph Constable and Dr. F. J. Dudenhausen of this city.

Mr. Lewis had secured a shotgun and tied a string to the trigger. Placing the muzzle against his chest over his heart, he had lain down in bed, covered himself up and pulled the string. There was a jagged hole six inches long and three inches wide where the charge had entered the body and death was immediate. Several shot had scattered and lodged in his body.

After investigating the case, Coroner Conner gave his verdict of suicide by gunshot wound.

The funeral services will be held at Catskill and interment will be in the Jefferson Rural Cemetery Wednesday.

Getting Ready for Races in Kingston

Hudson Valley Trotting Association Elects Officers and Decides on Three Days' Meet in Each Community—Hudson Valley Trotting Association.

The Hudson Valley Trotting Association met Monday at the Governor Clinton Hotel, and was attended by members from Orangeburg, Monticello, Ellettsville and Kingston. This party were guests of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce with Mayor John J. A. Vice-president, John Dunlop, of Ellettsville, secretary-treasurer, Byron Grant of Liberty. An executive committee was also appointed, consisting of the following members: Dr. B. W. Mason of Kingston, E. C. Hocutt of Ellettsville, H. T. Clark of Woodbury and J. M. Harter of Closter, N. J.

The dates of the meetings of the various communities having been set at a previous meeting, the next matter of business was to decide on the number of days the meets would be held and the type of races. It was voted to hold a three day meet in each community and that there would be three races on each day, six of these races were to be utilized in all communities leaving three to be named as a choice of the local community in which it was held. Other details in connection with the running of the races were discussed and at the close of the meeting the party adjourned to the track at North Manor avenue where an inspection of the grounds and stables was made with the result that the visiting men were very much impressed with the possibilities of Kingston's track.

Monday evening, the board of directors of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce held their regular monthly meeting at which time the local committee, Harry Walker, chairman; J. D. Schenck, Elmer Palen, A. E. Gildersleeve and Dr. Mahen, were present to make a report regarding the race meet. Following a discussion of this report, the Chamber of Commerce directors voted to sponsor this meet and further committees will soon be appointed to work out details to make this occasion one of the most interesting that has ever been held in Kingston.

Bribery Trial of Governor Jackson

Indianapolis, Feb. 14 (AP).—Broken friendship, charges involving a vacated public office, the Ku Klux Klan and the possibility of a former governor testifying against his successor are factors that tend to make Governor Ed Jackson's bribery trial one of the most unusual in the history of Indiana.

D. C. Stephenson, former grand dragon of the Klan, who now is confined to life imprisonment for the murder of an Indianapolis girl, sought to testify yesterday against the defendant, who Stephenson has charged, used his money and automobile in 1924 in a successful race for the governorship. That was the broken friendship angle.

The defense, however, after a few perfunctory answers by Stephenson, stopped further testimony by charging he was not competent to testify regarding concealment of an alleged conspiracy to bring about the appointment, through bribery, of James E. McCallister as Marion county prosecutor. After long arguments, Special Judge Charles M. McCabe asked opposing counsel to submit briefs and took the matter under advisement.

The vacated office of Marion county prosecutor is the basis of the state's charges, the allegation being that Governor Jackson and others attempted to buy the office from former Governor Warren T. McCray in 1925 for $10,000.

The fact that McCray is expected to testify against his successor has greatly increased interest in the trial.

Diaries of Students Introduced in Evidence

Broussard, Turkey, Feb. 14 (AP).—Diaries of students with whom Miss Edith Sanderson of Berkeley, Cal., teacher in the American school here, discussed Christianity were introduced in evidence at her trial today.

Miss Sanderson with Miss Anna Wilson, director of the school, and Miss Lucille Day, another instructor, is charged with violating rules of the ministry of education forbidding religious instruction in school.

The students' diaries told of the conversion of two Muslim girls to Christianity. One of these girls, Kamiran Hattam, was stated to have confessed her conversion to Turkish inspectors.

The girl, sworn in without the customary placing of her hand on the Koran, denied completely the alleged avowal of conversion to the inspectors.

Miss Wilson denied the accusation of students that she was aware of Miss Sanderson's alleged propaganda.

The trial was adjourned to March 5.

Will Support Coolidge Plan

Representative Britten Following Call at White House is Convinced That President's Naval Program is Right.

Washington, Feb. 14 (AP).—Representative Britten of Illinois, one of the leaders of the "big navy" group in the house, said today he would fight for the building of the administration's naval program in five years, but that he intended to support President Coolidge, whose wish is to have no time limit specified. Britten heretofore has led the fight for the construction of the various elements of the naval program within a specified time limit. After a call at the White House today he said that he had been convinced that the President was right in desiring to round out the navy in keeping with the condition of the treasury and that he expected to support both in the house naval committee and on the floor the program of Mr. Coolidge as submitted recently to congress.

This plan contemplates the construction of 25 cruisers, five airplane carriers, nine destroyer leaders and 11 submarines at a cost of $540,000,000 over a period of possibly eight years but without any stipulation made in the bill as to when building should begin or be completed.

FEDERAL IRRIGATION ON SAFE FOOTING, AVERS WORK

Washington, Feb. 14 (AP).—Federal Irrigation is now on a safe footing, Secretary Work told the opening session today of a conference on reclamation and irrigation.

He explained that federal engineers had made a splendid job of getting water to dry land, but that nothing was done to solve the further economic problems of settlement, development, marketing and cooperation among the settlers.

"The settlers became repudiators from necessity," he added, "for they could not pay for their farms. But now irrigation is a going concern, the old idea of repudiation has disappeared. The farmers want to own their homes eventually and we have shown them that they can."

The reclamation bureau is spending $56,000 to irrigate 500,000 acres of land, but 300,000 of them require settlers, Dr. Elwood Mead, commissioner of reclamation declared.

WATCH IS SMALLER THAN TEN CENT PIECE

Richard Meyer, jeweler at Fair and John street, has on exhibit in his show windows one of the smallest watches in the world. The watch is a Swiss Hoffer's movement sold by Mr. Meyer and is exhibited beside a dime and cent, and is so small that the dime completely covers the watch. The tiny watch is a special exhibit watch and is not a commercial type. In spite of the delicate parts which make up the movement, it runs with remarkable accuracy. The bezel of the watch is set with diamonds and rubies. Mr. Meyer will have the watch on exhibition for several days at his store.

Miller was sentenced to serve 18 months in the federal penitentiary and to pay a fine of $5,000. His conviction and the sentence were upheld on February six by the United States circuit court of appeals. Killed Wife With Hammer

Philadelphia, Feb. 14 (AP).—Cecil Clyde Campbell, under arrest here as the confessed slayer of his wife in a New York hotel on February 5, today was held without bail to wait extradition to New York.

Campbell, who was arrested yesterday in a hotel, was a dejected figure as he appeared in the magistrate's court. His hair was rumpled and he was without collar or tie.

The hearing was brief. A Philadelphia detective testified the circumstances of the arrest and told the magistrate that the prisoner had confessed he killed his wife with a hammer in a room of the New York hotel.

"I want to get back to New York and get it over with," said Campbell today to New York detectives instrumental in making the capture. Campbell, soldier of fortune, former prison official and real estate dealer, said he killed his wife in a suicide pact but when it came his turn to kill himself, he lost his nerve and fled. Financial difficulties, he said, was the motive for wanting to end his life.

LONG DISTANCE FIGHT TO SAVE DORIS McDONALD

Chicago, Feb. 14 (AP).—Attorney James C. O'Brien, retained by the Women's Protective Association, today entered a long distance fight to save Doris Palmer McDonald, New York show girl, from death on the gallows at Montreal. She is under sentence to hang March 23 for murder. Attempts to save the girl were started by her mother, Mrs. Michael Greco, formerly Mrs. Hazel Snyder, of Chicago, who enlisted the aid of the protective association. The mother, who has not seen her daughter for 15 years, and three members of the association conferred with O'Brien to prepare affidavits which it is hoped may induce the Canadian courts to leniency. "If necessary, I will go to Montreal to plead my case," said Attorney O'Brien. "We have affidavits to show the girl was mentally irresponsible."

CAPITAL PUNISHMENT

MOST DEBATED SUBJECT

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 14 (AP).—Capital punishment is the most debated subject in New York state at present, according to James I. Wyer, director of the New York State Library.

The library maintains a service for individuals or groups preparing debates throughout the state. This consists of packages of pamphlets and newspaper clippings as well as books, which are distributed through 1,200 public libraries. The service is directed by Mrs. Virginia Foskett.

Mrs. Foskett's report for January shows 1,233 packages of debate material and 5,956 books sent out in response to specific requests. Approximately one-third of these dealt with capital punishment, it is estimated.

LOSSES FROM APPLE
APHIDS UNNECESSARY.

Geneva, N. Y., Feb. 14. The heavy losses suffered by New York fruit growers the past season from the depredations of the rosy apple aphid were entirely unnecessary and similar losses may be avoided in the future, provided timely applications of nicotine sprays are made as outlined in the standard spray schedule for the state, declares P. J. Parrott, entomologist at the Experiment Station here, in commenting on publishable spray practices.

"Applications of nicotine sulfate spray just after the fruit buds have opened, and when the tips of the leaves extend one-fourth to one-half inch, afford the best possible insurance against severe losses from apple aphids," says Mr. Parrott. "Repeated observations of aphids on apple trees in New York orchards show that most of the aphid eggs have hatched when the apple buds have reached the stage of development indicated. It is against these newly hatched aphids that the nicotine spray is most effective."

The Spray Formula.
"The spray formula used in the station orchards and found to be entirely satisfactory contains 2 1/2 gallons of lime-sulfur, 1 pint of 40% nicotine sulfate, and 2 1/2 pounds of lead arsenate in 100 gallons of water. This spray should be applied under a pressure of at least 200 pounds and should cover the underside of the twigs and small branches to give best results."

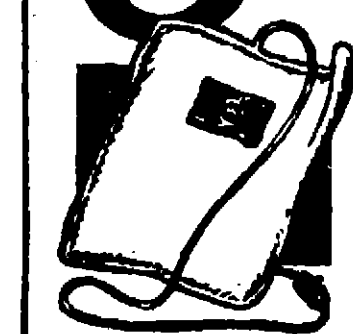

"There are a few essential points to watch in spraying for apple aphids, which the fruit grower would do well to heed. Do not spray when the buds are wet with dew or during showery weather. Select as far as possible days for spray operations when the air is balmy and little or no wind is stirring. High winds cause waste of materials and make thorough treatment difficult. High temperatures accelerate the volatilization of the nicotine."

"Apply mixtures under high pressure, using a fairly coarse and driving spray. Remove all watersprouts and suckers during early spring. The rosy aphid and the green apple aphid are partial to them and they often constitute centers of infestation, particularly for the green aphid."

"Judicious pruning of trees to remove excess wood not only makes for greater productivity and better color of apples, but it also helps to simplify the work of spraying. With open-headed trees rains and wind have a better chance to remove many aphids."

"I ain't sure who was third president myself."

"HAMMOCKS" CEREMONY HAS QUANT ORIGIN.

Many of the customs observed by officers and men of the U. S. Navy today are of quaint origin and can be traced back to the days of "wooden ships and iron men." The "hammocks" ceremony is one of these.

At the call of "hammocks" passed by bugle and call, sailors not on watch fall in at designated places, facing aft, near the mottos where their hammocks are stowed. Complete silence is maintained at this time. Then, at a shrill signal passed by the boatswain's mates on their calls, the hammocks are handed out to their owners and strung on the various bitts and stanchions.

Many years ago it was the custom for the ship's chaplain to lead the crew in prayer at this time. The chaplain stood on deck near the stern of the ship and that is why the men face aft and stand quietly, although the increased size of ships has long since prohibited leading the crew in prayer as they stand by their hammocks.

This man will never grow old

Full of pep at 60. Never expects to get too old to enjoy life. Has found secret.

HE'S ALWAYS astonishing people by introducing a lanky grandson or a flapper great-niece. For he's one of those men who seem young. With a clear skin, a springy step. And a laugh like a boy's. Actually he's reaching the age when most men think about retiring from business.

"Why should I retire?" he asks. "Never felt better in my life. All I ever need to keep well is Nujol. And that's not medicine." He's right. Nujol is a natural substance, perfected by the Nujol Laboratories of the Standard Oil Company (New Jersey). It contains absolutely no medicine or drugs. But it keeps the body functioning normally. For Nujol not only prevents any excess of the body poisons (we all have them) from forming, but also aids in their removal.

There's no age limit on Nujol. Doctors put babies on it soon after they're born. School children take it. Mothers and fathers. And the very old folks, too. Maybe you think you feel perfectly well. Perhaps you suspect you don't. Anyway, try taking Nujol and see if there isn't a difference. Take it for 3 months. It can't do any harm to try. And it might do a lot of good. Everyone else who's tried it says so. Be sure you get the genuine.

Large Audience Hears Choristers

Colonial Choristers Present Elaborate Program Which Delights Appreciative Audience at Fair Street Reformed Church.

Kingston's musical talent was last Sunday evening, by the advent of the Colonial Choristers, a quartet composed of Mabel Wickes, soprano; Jeanne Mills, contralto; Joseph Craig, tenor; and Mrs. Miller, baritone, who gave a delightful recital at the Fair Street Reformed Church on Monday evening, being presented by the service choir of that church.

The quartet presented a really delightful ensemble group, their voices blending well and there being evidently a unanimity of interpretation of the songs they sang. In fact, the program was particularly pleasing with its first group of old English songs, then a group of negro spirituals, and finally a group of southern songs, while the solos and duets were in the nature of folk songs, so that the evening was one of real pleasure and entertainment, without any straining after musical fireworks.

The first group of quartets included a "Spring Song" by Pinsky, "The Soft Wind Whispered" by Ambrose; "The Land of the Living" arranged by H. O. Osgood; and "My Love's Like a Red, Red Rose" by Garrett.

It is always a pleasure to hear Mrs. Wickes sing, and her two solos, "Shepherd Thy Demeanor Vary," by Brown, arranged by H. Lane Wilson, and "Red Wing's Wooing," by Sorereign, an Indian love song, were enthusiastically received.

Then followed a group of negro spirituals by Burleigh, "Go Down Moses," arranged by N. Clifford Page; "No Body Knows De Trouble I've Seen," "Ezekiel Saw De Wheel," arranged by Lillian Hemstreet; and "De Gospel Train," arranged by G. Akeley Brower. In the last two of the group the quartet caught the pulsating, compelling negro rhythm that made them especially good.

Mrs. Craig explained that the first of the duets, "La Carmargo," (French folksong) by Schneider, was in praise of a long-ago favorite ballerino of the Paris opera. It was full of charm and grace as sung by Mrs. Wickes and Mr. Miller. Everyone enjoyed the jolly old song, "The Two Beggars," by H. Lane Wilson, sung by Messrs. Craig and Miller, while the duet, "Laughter Wears a Lilted Gown," by Gene Branscombe, as sung by Mrs. Wickes and Mrs. Mills was applauded to an encore. "The Hatterly."

The program closed quite too soon for the quartet, but they were so well liked that they were asked to return.

Liked Old Costumes, but Stuck to Modern

Looking at some pictures of Ireland, old and new, a friend remarked the other day that men on the streets of Dublin looked like men on the streets of New Bedford, and pointed regretfully to the posed picture of the typical Irish countryman of an older day, with his breeches and his characteristic hat and stick.

"What a pity they haven't stuck to the old costumes," "Well," I said, "they haven't; but if you are stuck on that rig there is nothing on earth to prevent you wearing one like it." He said that was different. "Doubtless," I went on, "you admire the Hungarian women in their quaint old-style dress." He said he did. "Do you want your wife to dress the way?" But he said that, too, was different. "If you are so strong for the old and the picturesque," I persisted, "you might wear silk knee breeches and stockings and a gilt-buttoned coat and an elaborate starched, ruffled collar and a three-pointed hat, just like your Revolutionary forebears." But it was no use. I couldn't interest him in wearing old clothes, and he wouldn't think of cooking his meat in an open fireplace, preferring the standardized, dull, stupid gas stove with hot-water attachment.—C. G., in New Bedford Standard.

Great Actress' Prank

Sarah Bernhardt, generally credited with never having laughed or joked while on the stage, is said to have played a prank on an actress, presumably Mrs. Patrick Campbell, in retaliation for a joke the latter had played on her. There was a scene wherein she had to grasp the hands of Mrs. Campbell, to help her over the rock. The astonished Mrs. Campbell discovered that the "Divine Sarah" carried a raw egg and left it crushed in Mrs. Campbell's hands, but went on with the scene as if nothing had happened.

Ten Pin Star To Bowl Here

Jimmy Smith, who has 16 perfect games to his credit, will be seen in action at Y. M. C. A. alleys.

JIMMY SMITH.

Jimmy Smith, the famous ten pin star has been engaged to bowl exhibition matches on local runways. He will bowl his series of games on the Y. M. C. A. alleys in the near future against the best local talent.

Smith is generally conceded to be the best in the game and is rightly styled the grand old man of bowling. He started his career setting pins in New York and learning the rudiments of the game there, has advanced until now at the age of 44 he is rolling the best game of his career.

He is now on the tour of the United States and Canada. He has been playing ten games a day since the tour commenced September first and will continue this routine until late in May.

He is holder of many records the most enviable of which is probably the fact that he has 16 perfect games to his credit. He also holds the record for thirty consecutive games 7,311 pins for an average of 243.7 pins per game rolled in Denver, Colorado, during last season's tour. He was twice all events champion of the American Bowling Congress which is the real world's championship test. He is the only bowler who has even accomplished this difficult feat. He also has been champion of the Middle West Bowling Association, twice champion of Wisconsin and champion of Greater New York seven successive years. In 1911, at Toronto, Canada, he rolled the world's record tournament series in the Canadian Bowling Association tournament, totaling 771 with games of 279, 280 and 292.

Keeps in Training.

Smith keeps in training through the entire year, by bowling nine or ten months and by a systematized routine during the two off months when he does not bowl. During these months he keeps himself in trim, swimming, hiking, boxing, and with calisthenics. He considers his long hike in the morning followed by a chilly dip his best conditioner as the hike keeps his legs in condition and the swimming keeps his abdominal muscles, which makes it more like bowling than any other exercise.

Really Likes to Bowl.

Smith bowls because he likes it. He urges everyone to try it because it keeps one in good physical condition in addition to a lot of fun and social contact. Self confidence and practice are the big factors he claims. He advises starting with the idea of reaching the top and of dismissing the idea that one is a "dub." He says that no special physical requirements are necessary to master the game and can name many of the world's best bowlers who are small in stature. He adds that it is a game for both old and young of both sexes and that he knows of no game that is better for keeping one in youthful condition and appearance with advancing years.

Does Not Gamble.

Smith says that gambling has no place in the bowling game and he refuses to indulge in it and discourages it in others. He says that the gambling fever had much of a hold on bowlers and that the so-called "pot hunter" of old is in disrepute today.

Game of Health.

Smith says that bowling is no longer recognized as a game played merely for pleasure but that most of the vast number of people who are adopting it are attracted by the health benefits they derive in addition to the recreational and social benefits. Smith offers himself as concrete proof of this, stating that he has never had a sick day during his thirty years' participation in the game.

Carmen Hill Waited Long Time

BACK in 1915 a lawyer of Covey, Pa., was so impressed by the work of a kid pitcher on the high school baseball team of the aforementioned town that he told his friend, Fred Clark, about him. The pitcher's name happened to be Carmen Hill. He was signed by the Pirates in March of that year and then turned out to Youngstown (Ohio) for the summer. Battered in the fall, he pitched 45 innings and allowed the enemy but one run. And yet the score of twelve victories were to fall on Carmen Hill and he ended by an injury to his arm. He was then sent to the Pirates' team. And when his arm did come he used it so well that he won 22 and lost 23 games in his first big league year.

It is doubtful if any big league ball player of all time, not excepting Knicker, Bentley, Boley, Willy Moore, or any of the long-term signs of the minors, worked and waited as long as did Carmen Hill for his chance. The Pirates kept him on the farm for two years, releasing him to Homestead in 1917. In the interval he had served on the farm at Bechtelheim. He pitched for Kansas City in 1918. About this time he got tired of farm life and threatened to quit baseball, as a big league berth seemed to recede rather than approach him in his career. A splendid type of man is Carmen Hill. Serious almost to the point where he might be termed somber, reserved and even aloof to strangers, yet if one penetrates that reserve and wins his confidence he finds a deep, strong, earnest, admirable character. Life has been a battle to Hill. By Hill all the way and most of the time against great odds. The tragic death of his little son some years ago gave that brooding look to his dark eyes.

Hill was born Carmen Hill, nineteen when he left high school at the time of the Pirates' chief. His baseball record seems like a romance. No pitcher in the majors had much of an edge on this veteran rookie of last year when he finally did arrive after his 12-year journey. Wide, sweeping curves, lots of speed, a baffling delivery and a cool head and a game heart and a steel arm, he worked in over forty games and brought that aid to the Pirates staff that was necessary to win the flag. He was beaten in his world series game, but not disgraced. Let them say what they will, it was not poor pitching that cost the Pirates the series in four straight games. Knicker, Hill and Mullins all pitched with great effectiveness against the slugging Yanks.

Lefty O'Doul Is Back as Giant Outfielder

Frank O'Doul's coming trout with the New York Giants will be watched with much interest by all followers of baseball. He is coming back as an outfielder with a good chance of sticking this time, almost ten years after his first opportunity to become a major leaguer.

O'Doul was a pitcher when the Yankees brought him up and he had all the mannerisms of a great ball player. Miller Ruggins insisted that O'Doul did not take his baseball seriously enough and that his pitching was not of major league grade.

Later O'Doul was with the Red Sox and two years ago the Cubs took him on option, but Joe McCarthy turned him back to the Coast. Last season O'Doul starred in the outfield, at the bat, on the bases, and in fact, was an all-around star. He won honors as the most valuable player in the Coast League.

Schwartz Eager to Win Three Big Horse Races

A. C. Schwartz, New York banker, hopes to stage a triple coup on the biggest racing events in 1928. He will attempt triumphs in the Liverpool Grand National steeplechase, the Epsom derby and the Kentucky derby. These classics never have been won by an individual, let alone in a single year.

For this ambitious program Schwartz has lined up his candidates as follows: Liverpool Grand National steeplechase—Jack Horner and Durango; Epsom derby—Clifton Abbott; Kentucky derby—Bertie.

Track men have figured odds against a triple victory to be about 3,000 to 1.

Phil Edwards to Compete on Canadian Track Team

Phil Edwards, flashy New York university track star and national junior half-mile champion, will compete for Canada in the coming Olympics, on the United States team.

The A. A. U. declared that Edwards is a West Indian and has been in this country several years. He has not been here long enough, however, to be made a citizen, which automatically eliminates him from possible participation in the Olympic games.

Being a British subject, Edwards did not want to lose his chance to compete in the coming Olympic games and has decided to enlist under the Canadian colors.

"Where The Good Clothes Come From"

Exposure—chill—muscles knotted with pain

260 Gloucester fishermen said, "This gives quickest relief.."

NO HARDIER, heartier class of men lives than the men of the fishing fleets. Nothing daunts them—raging gales, mountainous waves, sudden and heavy strains, the freakish accidents of the sea.

How do they manage to avoid colds, rheumatism, stiffening of the muscles when they've been facing icy seas in an open boat? How do they relieve the aching of tired muscles when they've been straining over the heavy nets? What do they do for the sprains, wrenches, bruises that are bound to occur in an adventurous life like theirs?

We asked numbers of the fishermen of the famous old fishing town of Gloucester, Mass., to answer these questions.

260 said, "We use Sloan's."

The best friend of all who face exposure and strain

It's the same story everywhere among people who have to face exposure or strain. Policemen, postmen, firemen, factory workers, farmers—they all say they rely on Sloan's Liniment to rid them of rheumatic aches, stiffness of the muscles, the pain of sprains and bruises.

Read this account of how a bad case of stiff neck was completely relieved in less than five minutes:

"I was working and got a little warm, and it turned in and rained. I got good and wet. I got a stiff neck and could not turn my head. I used Sloan's and the pain left me in less than five minutes." S. K. Smalley, 75 Union Ave., Bellevue, Pa.

Sloan's Liniment doesn't just deaden the pain. It draws new blood into the stiff muscle, the torn ligament, the rheumatic joint; and stops the pain by driving out congestion, and sweeping away germs and poisons. Get a bottle. You can never tell when it may save you hours of agony. A bottle that lasts a long time costs only 35c—at all druggists.

Use Sloan's Liniment for all kinds of muscular pain. It relieves:

- Rheumatism
- Sciatica
- Lumbago
- Neuralgia
- Sprains
- Lame Muscles
- Stiff Neck
- Colds

Famous Conspiracy

In British history the Cato street conspiracy was a conspiracy under the lead of Arthur Thistlewood, which aimed to annihilate Castleknock and other ministers. The plot was discovered February 23, 1820, at the residence, Cato street, near Edgeware road, London. It is also called the Thistlewood conspiracy.

SUNSET CHARLIE SEES ROY SCOUTS IN THE SUNSET.

Boy Scouts Rally Day, and the Scouts are marching as the sun goes down, marching from the Armory to Academy Park for their own ceremony that goes with the order to lower the flag at sunset.

This is also the era of Lincoln's Birthday, the "grand old man" of the '60s, and he who kept in the blue field the stars in the one union that now floats overhead. He was the "rail splitter" who grew up in the atmosphere of log cabins, woodcraft, and self help and, indeed, must have been a Pioneer Boy Scout although he knew it not.

The Sun, the grand old Boy Scout of the West, intends to be at the first ceremony this night, linking up with the flag, the sunset, and while the Scouts are marching through the town before the "lads" are proud that their boys are "starting right" the Sun is lifting the cloud-curtains in the West, cutting the long robes of grey, blue in fur of goldlight, and flashing his badge of golden sun.

A signal to the Troop, counting down the Avenue that he'll be there.

The parade swings around the block and comes marching on (Union Avenue and as drums beat and fifes play a patriotic air, the Troop "Column" left into the park and circle about the flag, the sunset, and "Old Glory" rings at the peak.

The command is "Halt" Left Face! and the Boy Scouts, in order of precedence to the flag and all at salute.

Salute with faces and banners at Present! While the band plays "Colors" the balladeers draw down slowly from the peak and the flag is lowered into kindly hands, but "never touching the ground," is carefully folded and placed away until the "surprise" of another day.

At the time of the ceremony, the white snowflakes are falling—the edelweiss ("noble white") from the cloud-mountains of the sky, thrown down it maybe, by spirits-in-the-air and dropping from patriot-spirits who made the flag and in benison upon these young patriots in the making.

And the gold of the "GOVERNOR CLINTON" on the hotel across the way catches some of the gold of the sunset and shines brightly with the thought that the patriotism of an hundred and fifty years gone or still lives in the young lives of those who now read these historic grounds.

And the while, the silenced boom of the sunset sun has flashed its red flares upon the grey-blue of the clouds—for day is done.

Parade dismissed! the sunset dissolves, the colors passing into the grey-of-the-blue—the finale is the horizon band of sunset, the blood-red stripe of the Flag!

Financial and Commercial

New York, Feb. 14 (AP)—Receipts of the upward movement of prices in today's stock market was accompanied by increased selling resistance in some of the pool specialists. There was little business news over the double holiday to influence the price movement, although some were current that banks were imposing stricter collateral requirements, presumably in an effort to have a reduction in brokers' loans. The recent gains in loans had been due to borrowings on out of town funds sent here for temporary investment.

There was no change in the credit situation. Call money renewed unchanged at 4½ per cent despite the deficit shown in the weekly clearing house statement last Saturday. Banks called about $3,000,000 in loans during the morning but there appeared to be a plentiful supply of funds available at the renewal rate.

Most of the standard industrial moved within rather narrow limits, although the undertone appeared to be firm. Tobacco Products A jumped 5 points to a new peak at 128 on announcement of the formation of a committee to evolve a plan to dissolve the company. Montgomery Ward was again in brisk demand in the early afternoon, rising more than 4 points to within striking distance of the record top. Foods also appeared to be active in a number of low and medium priced issues, sharp gains being recorded by Electric Refrigeration, Lohm and Fink, American-Wooden, preferred and Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit. American Steel soared more than 8 points to the highest level in two years.

Selling pressure was most effective against such issues as Montana Power, International Paper, Jewel Tea and U. S. Steel Iron Pipe, all of 2 to 3 points.

In the rail group, New Haven reacted about 2 points on the traditional "selling on the good news" following the declaration of a special dividend of $1, the first since 1913. Other rails were quiet but firm.

Avery Found in Car Unconscious

Robert F. Avery, Wall Street Druggist Found in Unconscious Condition in His Automobile by State Troopers—Had Been Missing Since Saturday.

Robert F. Avery, proprietor of Fredrick's Drug Store on Wall street, was found in his automobile in an unconscious condition by State Troopers this morning near Acorn Hill, in the town of Olive.

The car was standing on the road, which is a dirt road, a short distance from the main highway.

The Troopers brought him to the court house about one o'clock this afternoon, where he was identified by Deputy Sheriff Ralph Constable. The Troopers rushed him to the City of Kingston Hospital, where his condition later was reported to be serious. He remained in an unconscious condition.

As soon as his identification had been established by the Troopers, they communicated with Mrs. Avery, who said her husband had been missing since Saturday. He had been suffering from a nervous condition and the family thought he had gone away for a brief rest.

It is thought that at the time he went away, Mr. Avery was on the verge of a nervous breakdown.

RUINS DENIES CONNECTION WITH SURVEILLANCE OF JULY

Washington, Feb. 14 (AP)—His reputation vouches for five United States senators, William J. Burns, charged, with Harry F. Sinclair and three others with criminal contempt of court, testified in his own behalf today and vigorously denied connection with the surveillance of the Fall-Sinclair oil conspiracy jury.

Senators Shortridge, California, Watson, Indiana, Moses, New Hampshire and Copeland and Wagner of New York, each testified that the international known detective had a good reputation for honesty and integrity.

Burns aggressively defending himself, denied every charge the government had placed against him and declared testimony by William J. McMullin, the government's star witness, was untrue as far as it affected him.

McMullin, working for the Burns agency under the name of William J. Long, testified the noted detective had urged him "to stick" to a false story before the grand jury. Burns said he did nothing of the sort and only inquired of McMullin if his report saying a juror had been approached by a government employee, was accurate.

Burns said he had had no connection with the Burns detective agency since 1921, and knew nothing of its employment by Sinclair to shadow the oil jurors until after mistrial of the oil case.

River Under Ground

Lost River is a name given to a deep gorge where the water of the Mooselake Branch brook disappears from sight, and at times from sound, for a considerable distance under massive boulders. It is the third great natural wonder in the Franconia mountains, standing next after the Profile and the Flame, far surpassing the latter in its surprises, its massive rock architecture, and unique in its dark, gloomy caverns. The gorge itself is about one-half mile long, 20-30 rods wide and 40-75 feet deep to the hook bed. It was discovered in 1895 by H. C. Jackman of North Woodstock.

Dog Witness for Itself

A dog recently testified for itself and its master and mistress at a court in Nottingham, England. The owners swore that they had been wantonly attacked by a man who declared that the dog should be chained up when it started frisking around the assailant. The case turned on whether the dog was vicious or merely playing, and throughout the hearing the dog sat quietly on the clerk's desk or gently licked the hand of anyone who approached it, and the magistrates decided that the assault had been unprovoked.

Gift Worthy of Prince

The costliest Christmas card ever made was prepared at the order of an Indian prince. Although the card measured only 12 by 10 inches, it involved six months' incessant work for the artist who produced it. Forty elephants were killed before tasks of exactly the right quality were obtained to yield the thin ivory card. On it four of the talented Indian artists reproduced 100 scenes from the life of Buddha. Around the edge of the masterpiece, to form a frame for the pictures, 44 of the finest diamonds were set.

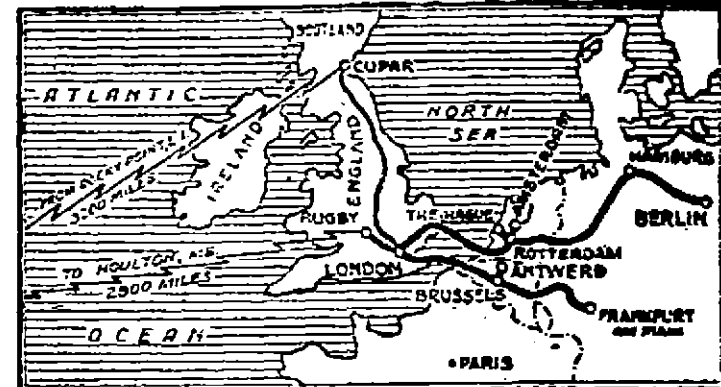

Night Winds in Mountains

A meteorological phenomenon found among the high mountains and noticeable in many places in Waterson lakes national park in southern Alberta is the night wind from the mountain tops. During the heat of the day the warm air rises from the valleys, but at sunset a current of air from the peaks rushes downward, bringing with it the scents of pines and larches, and it may be of the flowers of some alpine meadow a couple of thousand feet above.

State of Mind

Your state of mind has a direct relationship to your state of health. The individual who is bored with his work, tired of his monotony, depressed with his aimless activities reflects his mental state in the condition of his body. There is no question of the vital influence of a happy frame of mind over the physical forces of the body.

SMITH MOVES TO FORCE RESTORATION OF CUT

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 14 (AP)—The first legislative move by Governor Smith to force restoration of $550,000 cut from his recommended appropriation for Capitol Park in this city was made today with introduction of a bill carrying an appropriation of the same amount. The sum sought would provide for acquisition of Albany Academy, a boys' preparatory school within the boundaries of the proposed park.

The governor announced that he would not seek immediate action on a requested appropriation for $200,000 for purchase of land for the park until he had learned whether the Republican leaders of the legislature intended to replace the sum voluntarily in his budget. The land purchase item would come from the state public improvement bond issue, while the $250,000 would be taken from current revenues. The Albany Academy bill was introduced by Senator William T. Byrne and Assemblyman John P. Hayes, both Democrats of Albany, at the request of the minority leaders in both houses.

THE FLAPPER IS GONE.
NATION WIDE SURVEY SHOWS.
Chicago, Feb. 14 (AP)—Gone is the flapper!

In her place has come the young woman with poised, soft-toned and correct speech, soberly costumed, and with hair. Such are the specifications of Miss 1928 as set forth in the current number of the Junior League Magazine, national organ of the younger social sets of 35 American cities.

Results of a nationwide survey by Junior Leaguers show the flapper has sung her swan song in the north, south, east and west.

"Those hard boiled little things with shaved necks and no underwear have gone completely out of style," says Mrs. Alexander Kirk, an active Chicago Junior Leaguer.

"This year the style in young girls is to be quiet, conservative and terribly in earnest about careers."

The article, written for the magazine by four Leaguers from four corners of the nation, says in part: "The flapper was a post-war creation. Her hair overnight resembled a Hottentot's, her skirts ended about her knees, she smoked her brother's cigarettes, and swore like a trooper. 'She chewed gum—great wads of it—rigorously and incessantly. 'Her make-up was as crude as a clown's. She was supposed to be a neck artist, 'boozehound' and 'human smokesack'."

"The flapper wasn't half so sophisticated as the present day girl, smoother, more polished. Young 1928 uses more subtle methods, that is all."

"She wears black satin instead of corse, she blends her rouge evenly, she inhales her cigarettes without puffing furiously. She dances gracefully to muffled jazz and drinks liquor quite as much as her predecessor, but from a teaspoon rather than a flask."

"She is more refined and veils her frankness with artful politeness, takes life for granted and lives frankly and calmly—if not wisely."

Weather reports from Bellefonte, Pa., caused a change in plans.

The flights will be made as soon as weather permits. They are in the nature of trials to establish data for an eight plane service which will be inaugurated to the Canadian northwest shortly.

Bennett has recovered from injuries received last spring when, in a test flight in the America here, he was seriously injured.

Poor Protection Causes Bee Losses

Need Proper Insulation and Food During Winter To Be Able to Produce in Spring.

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 14.—On the average, twelve per cent of the bees in New York state each fall die before spring. By applying wax around the entrance of winter hives this loss could be reduced to less than one per cent, said Dr. E. P. Phillips of the New York state college of agriculture, speaking today at Farm and Home Week at Cornell.

The heaviest loss is not from those colonies which actually die, but from the colonies that are poorly protected and are so weak that they are unable to produce a full crop of honey the following season.

Poor insulation and poor winter food causes the bees to produce excessive heat. Bees increase their activities to produce heat when they are exposed to the cold. If they are poorly protected, they produce so much heat that the temperature inside the cluster is exceedingly high. This high temperature speeds up the rate of all bodily functions, and the bees wear out rapidly, they lose their vitality and in the spring they are unable to produce a crop of honey.

Discover New Pest Of Garden Flowers

Fly Found In Cornell Garden Attacks Perennial Larkspur—Try Methods to Control Dahlias, Beg.

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 14.—A new insect which attacks flowering plants, a fly which during its worst stages eats the soft tissues in the leaves of perennial larkspur, made its first undisputed appearance last spring in the floriculture gardens of the New York state college of agriculture. It has since been given an official title and will soon appear in the roster of such notables, according to Grace H. Griswold, Cornell entomologist, speaking at Farm and Home Week here today.

Miss Griswold discussed other insects which attack flowering plants, and told of experiments conducted in the Cornell experimental gardens to control a tarnished plant bug which has injured dahlias for several years.

In telling about the new-comer, Miss Griswold said, "Last spring it was noticed that leaves on perennial larkspur plants in the floriculture gardens were turning brown. Examination showed that the injury was being caused by tiny white maggots living inside the leaf and eating the soft tissues between the upper and lower leaf surfaces. These maggots later developed into little flies similar to house flies, but much smaller. When studied, the insect was found to be entirely new, never before described. Since the fly has been given a name, and a description of it will be published in one of the entomological journals some time this spring.

Injury to the plant is caused in two ways. Not only do the maggots mine in the leaves but the adult flies cause damage by punctures which they make to get food. Sometimes considerable areas of a leaf will be literally covered with these tiny holes, the edges of which turn brown. When the holes are close together, they coalesce and an entire section of the leaf dies.

Experiments on Dahlias.
"The tarnished plant bug has been very injurious to dahlias for several years," Miss Griswold said. "Last summer a series of experiments was conducted for the control of this pest at the experimental gardens of the department of floriculture. Several different kinds of insecticides were used and applied at weekly intervals from the time the plants first appeared above the ground until they were killed by frost. The insecticides that proved most satisfactory were 'evergreen,' a compound of pyrethrum; a two per cent free nicotine dust; and a nicotine sulfate spray. In October the dahlias treated with these insecticides were a mass of bloom while the untreated plants were smaller and had few flowers. The experiments will be repeated this coming summer to obtain more information before definite control measures are advocated."

"CHIC-CHIC REVUE"

AT BROADWAY THEATRE.

The "Chic-Chic Revue" played before record attendance at the Broadway Theatre Monday. The show, which is entirely different from that staged here under the name some time ago, pleased the large audiences. Lew Williams and George Rubin, comedians, the snappy chorus and other members of the cast made a hit with the theatre-goers both afternoon and evening.

The stage settings and lighting effects used in staging the "Chic-Chic Revue" were designed especially for the show and present an exceptionally beautiful surrounding for the cast to work in.

Lew Williams and George Rubin lived up to their reputation as Kingston's favorite comedians and got a "big hand" from the audiences which they entertained from the rising curtain to the finale. Both men, especially Rubin, are well known in this city and worked a familiarity into their parts which registered very favorably with the audiences.

The men talked of their friends in this city during the show which made the two appear, as they like to feel, as two Kingstonsians. They have been playing in shows here for a number of years, during which a wide acquaintanceship was built up among residents.

The program at the theatre will undergo a complete change on Thursday. The "Chic-Chic Revue" is expected to draw large audiences throughout the week to enjoy the two comedians and other features of the production.

No Change in City Milk Code

Special Committee to Consider State and City Code Submits Report to Health Board—Action on Report Deferred—Other Matters.

The report of the special committee to consider the provisions of the new state milk code that goes into effect on June 1 and the provisions of the present city milk code, was submitted to the board of health Monday evening, and action on the report deferred until next month. The report states that the committee decided to recommend that no changes be made in the present city code. Several other recommendations are also made in the report, which reads as follows:

"Your committee appointed to consider the new milk regulations as proposed by the State Department of Health, held a meeting at the board rooms on January 31; all members being present. After long discussion wherein the various sides of the question were discussed the committee unanimously decided to recommend that no changes be made in our present local milk ordinance. Comparison with the state regulations shows that our local requirements are already fully as strict as any restrictions set down in the state code, so that your committee believes that no benefit is to be acquired by adopting further regulations.

"Your committee also recommends that for the guidance of inspectors, steam rather than chemicals be the approved method of sterilization of milk bottles and dairy equipment. "Further your committee commends the practice of a licensed milk dealer being permitted to handle both raw and pasteurized milk with the same bottling equipment and believes that a permit should be granted only to handle one grade of milk. If a dealer desires to dispense at retail another grade of milk, then it should be procured from a dealer handling that grade and should be dispensed only in the original sealed containers."

Defer Action on Report.
The board decided to defer action on the report until the March meeting at which time it is expected that it will be adopted and the several recommendations adopted.

To Board Children.
Mrs. E. Chamberlain of 39 Van Deusen street was granted a permit to board two children when she submitted her application to the board.

More Laboratory Work.
Dr. Frederic Holcomb, of the laboratory committee called attention to the increased work at the city laboratory and moved that Mrs. Honk be granted an increase in pay of $25 a month to be paid out of the increased receipts. The motion was unanimously adopted. Bills and claims were read, and the board then adjourned.
